

CSI Leasing Selects LeaseWave[®] From Odessa Technologies, Inc.

August 22, 2011

CSI Leasing, Inc. ("CSI"), one of the largest independent equipment leasing specialists in the world, has selected LeaseWave from Odessa Technologies, Inc. ("Odessa") to automate and administer their front office and back office lease management processes.

"CSI Leasing is preparing for the next phase of our international growth and needed a scalable system to enable the consolidation of our processes and systems", says Steve Hamilton, President and COO of CSI. "We expect LeaseWave to enable CSI to consolidate its disparate legacy and manual systems into a single, integrated platform to better manage our global leasing operations."

"The LeaseWave suite is built using an entity-driven model with a 100% Services Oriented Architecture, offering the best-in-class platform for automation and integration with third party systems." says Julita Nerozzi, Project Manager, Odessa Technologies, Inc. "When this is combined with its mature functionality and workflow-based design, LeaseWave will bring unprecedented efficiency gains and business controls to CSI, across their global operations."
